The Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival is the only consistently long running LGBT film Festival in Colorado. It has been held in Colorado Springs since the year 2000, and features the best short films and features screened at the annual San Francisco International LGBT Film Festival.

In the early 1990's, Colorado Springs had become notorious for its anti-gay sentiments as expressed by the group "Colorado for Family Values" and the passage of Amendment 2.

Although times have changed, one of the purposes of the Festival was, and continues to be, to educate the larger community about the lives of LGBT persons, and the discrimination they can face even today.

This year is the 10th Anniversary Year of the Festival. Please join us the weekend of Sept. 18-19-20 at Colorado College for fun, festivities, and community.

A sponsor form will be available online at www.pplff.org on June 1, 2009. Pass and tickets sales will begin on-line at the Festival website on July 20, 2009.
